STUDENT LIFE AT STANFORD

Harry Savage Writes of His Alma Mater

A Millionaires Wealth Expended to Create An Ideal
Place of Learning

Stanford University, Cal., Sept. 8.

Editor Capital Journal: Before I came away, friends and relatives wished me to write to them. It would take too much of my time to write to twenty different people, so I have taken this means of telling you what kind of a place this is and how I am getting along.

On or about 1887 Senator and Mrs. Leland Stanford wished to found a university in memory of their son Leland Stanford, Jr. They were immensely rich, their estates being valued at about $50,000,000, I think, so they built this university which is situated one mile from the town of Palo Alto, which is some thirty-three miles south of San Francisco.

The plan of the building is that of two quadrangles, one outside the other.

The Chemistry building, which will not be completed until Christmas, 1902, and the Museum, are to the right as is also Robles Hall, which is a dormitory for girls. To the left will be the new gymnasium, which will cost about $75,000, and will be completed in about two years, and the new library. Encinal Hall is where I room and which has room for about 450 young men. These buildings are all opposite each other, and everything is built of brown stone, finished with marble.

This hall is probably the finest dormitory in the United States and one of the finest in the world, is heated by steam and lighted by electricity. Two single beds are in each room, and the cost is $10 per month, or $5 for each occupant; it is four stories and a basement high, and has a large clubroom where the boys gather and sing and dance, play billiards and read until 8 o'clock in the evening, when all noise must cease.

The girls' hall is not so large as this one, as this school was primarily designed for boys only.

The Museum is a wonder as it is very large and beautiful. When one first steps into the wide front door he is struck with the magnificent marble stairs and carved trimmings, etc. It is many times more beautiful than I can describe. In two rooms are Leland Stanford, Jr.'s collections, birds, which he shot, carvings he made, pictures he painted, toys with which he played, etc. In other rooms are rare old mummies, paintings, dresses, fans, etc., etc. It takes one about half a day to see it thoroughly.

The Memorial church, which is in the inner quadrangle, is said to be the most beautiful and unique in the world, it cost very close to $1,000,000. It is not quite completed, but will be in a very few weeks and will be dedicated this month. Around the altar of pure white marble are the life-size statues of the twelve apostles, and the background is covered with pure gold leaf, the walls are all covered with mosaics and the windows of painted glass, are symbols of different parts of the Bible. The floor is of inlaid marble, and in the choir loft is a beautiful pipe organ which is played from 4 to 5 p. m. every day. Every fifteen minutes the bells in the church tower chime; there are four different keys, and they blend together beautifully.

The outer quadrangle is not yet finished, and a gang of men are working all the time. When completed it will be nearly on mile around the outside of the outer quadrangle. As this is all built of brown stone you can well imagine that there is some cost to it. The different recitation and study rooms are very cheery and comfortable. The library is in the outer quadrangle, and is a very fine students' library. When the new one is built this one will be used as a law library only.

The Memorial arch is a very large and costly structure, and in the wall above it are engraved stone figures representing the march of civilization.

The manseum where Leland Stanford and his son lie in state is built entirely of polished white marble; it is only about twenty feet long and twelve feet wide, yet it cost the round sum of $200,000.

Student life is very exciting here sometimes, as the sophomores take it upon themselves to initiate every freshman who enters here, but the class of freshmen was so large this year that they scared the 'sophos out. They are never hurt here, only given a cold bath and possibly made to sing a song or dance a clog dance on the table, or something of that kind. O!

The Latest Yarn.
A Pittsburgh drummer tells this new yarn: I always carry a bottle of Kemp's Balsam in my grip. I take cold easily, and a few doses of the Balsam always makes me a well man. Everywhere I go I speak a good word for Kemp. I take hold of my customers—I take old men and young men, and tell them confidentially what I do, when I take cold. At druggists, 25c and 50c.

Pacing a Natural Gait.
The pacing habit is common among animals, says a writer in Scribner's magazine. Many animals pace—cattle, for instance; and, among dogs, setters I believe pace to be a rather more natural gait than trotting. Trotting, as it exists in our fast horses, is scarcely a natural gait, but is rather the result of breeding and education.

The Farmer's Success De- pends Upon Freedom From Disease and Suffering

PAINE'S CELERY
COMPOUND

Is the Medicine That Has Made Thousands of Country Toilers Well and Strong

There are thousands of farmers in our land who are rich in broad acres and gold, yet lack the true wealth known as good health.

It is a melancholy fact men and women in the country districts, breathing the purest air and drinking from God's bubbling fountains and limpid springs, are liable to the same ailments that come thick and fast to city people. We find rheumatism, neuralgia, debility, dyspepsia, kidney and liver troubles, and blood diseases almost as common in the farmer's family as they are in city homes.

Paine's Celery Compound, heaven's best blessing to the farming community, has done more for the banishment of dread disease and the building up of health than all other combined medicines. Mr. John Zuppan, a well known farmer of Middleport, Ohio, writes specially for the benefit of the sufferers in the rural districts; he says:

"Last November I was badly crippled up with rheumatism, which came on in June, and could hardly walk without the aid of crutches or a heavy stick. About the 10th of November I commenced taking Paine's Celery Compound, and after using four bottles I was completely cured, and was able to attend to my usual work as well as when I was 40. I am now 66, and can walk and run as well as any man of 30."

course there are jokes told and played on the green freshman that are very amusing, and at some future time I will write a few of them. I like it here very much indeed, and enjoy the life of a student of Stanford.

Yours very truly,
H. E. SAVAGE.

IMPROVING SCHOOLYARDS.
Women Beautifying Unattractive Places in Many Towns.

Many branches of the women's auxiliary of the American Park and Outdoor Art association are giving primary attention to school surroundings. The yards, front and rear, where opportunity for improvement is open are no longer left in their grassless and unadorned condition, says the New York Tribune. Trees are set along the curb strips, climbing shrubs planted along the walls, and flower beds laid out in artistic arrangement are scattered in the open spaces. The result is that many of the most unsightly schoolyards in various towns have become blooming and attractive areas, contributing alike to the comfort of the pupils and their artistic culture.

The programme of the auxiliary branches is to take the worst school areas first, and a most gratifying fact is the interest which the children have in the most squalid home conditions have developed in promoting the improvement of their schoolyards. The juvenile tendency to destroy things of beauty has been easily checked, so that no effort of the branches relative to schools have been wasted.

In some instances prizes for the best looking yards have introduced a profitable rivalry on the part of the schools. Among the various experiments tried is the successful one of encouraging the pupils to secure shrubs and plants and flowers for themselves and setting them out under older guidance. This plan has fostered a sense of ownership which inspires boys and girls to more attention and care of the improved yards.

One instance was cited in which the boys, with small carts and wheelbarrows, cleared a rough space of debris and with brooms and rakes leveled the area, while the girls lent their aid in setting the vegetation for growth and adornment. This case was read as a text for the topic of teaching the school children to take a prominent part in the beautifying and protection of school territory.

The auxiliary branches are not confining their attention to schools. They are devoting time to the adornment of nooks by the side of the railways, unsightly areas near factories and, in fact, bringing the aid of green nature to cover up and to screen places that offend the eye and detract from the general beauty of the town. Further, the auxiliaries have taken interest not only in matters of adornment, but in things sanitary, counseling with boards of health and inspiring the removal of whatever menaces the public health.

A Sentimentalist.
Johnny Shazleup—Electricity is a great thing!
Willie Boorum—W-why, yes, but there isn't half the fun pushing electric buttons at folks' front doors that there is pulling the old fashioned doorbells—Brooklyn Eagle.

Declined.
Edith—You say old Mr. Goldley declined Edith dreadfully about his age?
Gladys—Yes, poor girl! After they were married he confessed that he was only sixty instead of seventy-five.

Because you are better than the man you despise does not mean that you are not worse than those who despise you.—New York Press.

Tomorrow is not elastic enough in which to press the neglected duties of today.

"Sunny Face, Sunny Face, Where have you Been?"

"I've been to the Barr Store to pick out a ring." This is the answer many a sunny-faced girl would give in the course of a year. We have many rings for men, but rings for ladies are our especial specialty. So many and so beautiful are the ones we
